

Sponsors of this guide

The Athens County Convention and Visitors Bureau promotes tourism activities in the Athens area, including supporting meetings and conventions (logo is a temporary substitution).

Website: www.athensohio.com

Athens
Conservancy

The Athens Conservancy is a nonprofit land trust located in Athens, Ohio. It acquires land for nature preserves, public recreation and other public purposes, assists private landowners in protecting their land through conservation easements, supports control of invasive exotic plants, provides mapping services, and otherwise supports ecotourism and outdoor recreation. Membership is a minimum of $10 per year per person.

Website: www.athensconservancy.org

Friends of Strouds Run
State Park

Friends of Strouds Run State Park is a friends group that supports the state park through fund-raising, trail-building and maintenance, support for park activities, planning, and public information. Membership is free.

Website: www.friendsofstroudsrun.org

Athens Trails is a nonprofit organization dedicated to creating and maintaining a quality trail system and trail programs in the Athens area. They have been instrumental in providing a network of top-quality trails. The website has a wealth of information on trails and trail outing opportunities, and also features great maps of trail venues and other subjects. Membership is a minimum of $10 per year.

Website: www.athenstrails.org

Rural Action

Working Together to Revitalize Appalachian Ohio

Rural Action has worked in Appalachian Ohio for decades to promote economic, social and environmental justice. The organization supports appropriate economic development, environmental quality and a system that serves area citizens.

Website: www.ruralaction.org

Hocking River Commission is a nonprofit organization concerned with protecting the Hocking River, preserving lands along its banks, and supporting outdoor recreation on the river. They are building the Hocking River Water Trail. Membership is per person per year (Logo is a temporary substitution).

Website: www.hockingrivercommision.org